The Institute with its long standing heritage contributed in Nation Building since independence with commitment. The Institute along with its Regional Councils and Branches has been recognized as a one major contributor in India's Success story of India.

The roles in this regard played by the Branches and Regional Councils are very important.

Over the years, we all have contributed to the common cause of profession building with great commitments and perseverance but always remember that higher positions come with bigger responsibilities. The year 2023-24 is all the more special for all of us being the ICAI will be entering into 75th Year of its existence on 1st July 2023.

To align the members of Regional Councils and Managing Committee Members of Branches, with the approach and methodology of ICAI and for achieving the goals and objectives set of the Council, it is important that all organs of ICAI channelise their resources in most cohesive manner for the betterment of the profession.

Accountancy has been included in the top 12 champion sectors by the govt. that will have the power to boost the economy of the country. I am sure CAs will understand the deep responsibility they have for nation building. Shri Pranab Mukherjee

President of India

In present times, we live in a world which offers a vista of opportunities for those who can handle the accompanying serious challenges. The subprime crisis and Eurozone crisis had adversely impacted the global economy including the BRICS nations. The same have reinforced the role of accounting professionals in discharging their responsibility to create public trust. Ethical standards would result in fruitful communication to stakeholders. A highly robust framework was required in the accounting/auditing/financial reporting, PSU accounting and accounting innovation. ICAI has a big role to play in furthering India's economic growth by providing inputs to the government in various fields as well as effective implementation of schemes such as MGREGA.

An Indian chartered accountant is recognised worldwide as being among the best and the brightest in the profession. Your institute has served our country with great distinction. I sincerely believe that we cannot be satisfied with the status quo and I sincerely hope that the best is yet to come. Another 60 years will be still more productive, innovative in the service of the people of our great country. Indian Chartered Accountants have truly earned a name and fame for themselves like so many of our professional workers. Like our engineers, doctors, scientists, technologists and other professionals, our chartered accountants too faced global competition and to their credit they stood their ground."

“Over the years ICAI and its members have made a name for themselves in the development of discipline as well standards of accounting. One of the national challenge is: How do we get maximum economic benefit for the given investment? I believe this is your core competence. The CAs have an integrated experience of auditing, financial advice and financial management and providing leadership to certain industries and establishments. Time has now come for the Chartered Accountants to elevate themselves from component audit to system performance audit. How are you going to prepare yourselves from now onwards for celebrating the year of completing the 100 years of service in auditing by the year 2049? Hence the vision of ICAI can be: ‘ICAI will transform into a Financial Management and financial advice organisation with focus towards economic development of the nation and enhancing the growth of GDP.

(While speaking on the topic “Chartered Accountants: Partners in National Development” at the inauguration of ICAI’s International Conference on Accounting Profession: Adding Value To New Horizons Of Economic Growth, at New Delhi on 1st September, 2005)

Shri Bhairon Singh Shekhawat

Vice President of India
2003

“I compliment the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India for having pioneered the initiatives for creating professional awakening, facilitating identification of concerns and making comprehensive recommendations on issues relating to conduct of negotiations for various agreements of WTO and their implementation. Friends, you are highly qualified professionals working in every sector of economy and are spread over every part of the country. You are in a unique position to ensure that everyone remains on the right track leading to the path of progress.”

Spoken at the Function to release the document "The WTO- Road Ahead" at New Delhi on 22nd February, 2003

Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee

Prime Minister of India

“I must compliment the profession of Chartered Accountants for having served India well in the past five decades. The prestige your profession has acquired is on account of discipline, diligence and dedication which have become the hallmark of your profession. What is more is that you have been able to transmit that sense of discipline and diligence to much of the financial transactions of the Indian economy. Your profession had made rapid stride in the last few decades and your illustrious Institute has been spearheading the economic growth... The Indian Chartered Accountants have succeeded in meeting the rapidly changing demands of the Indian economy in this era of liberalisation and globalisation. This could not have been possible without the institute laying special emphasis on continuous education and training of your members. This progressive mindset provides a model for other professions. Another feature of your Institute which pleases me is that it is perhaps the only Institute in the world which undertakes the complete range of activities relating to its members and students, and I am particularly happy to note that you have made special endeavours to articulate accounting and auditing standards and improve the quality of corporate functioning...”

Spoken at the Inauguration of Golden Jubilee Celebrations of the Institute on 1st July, 1998 at New Delhi

Shri Giani Zail Singh

President of India
1983

“In so far as the Accountants bring high ethical standards and professional competence in the preparation of accounts and auditors’ reports, he undertakes a social responsibility, which is of relevance to all the citizens of his society... In a developing economy, it is the Accountants who are responsible for ensuring that scarce resources are utilised in the most economic fashion and that different manufacturing and other processes are run to the best possible advantage of the organisation as well as the society.”

Spoken at 10th CAPA Conference at Siri Fort Auditorium in New Delhi on 21st November, 1983

Dr. Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed

President of India
1975

“Apart from examining accuracy of transactions, the modern auditor should also look into the propriety of such transactions the profession has to develop uniform accounting principles, standard terminologies and precise definitions of various accounting concepts. This was desirable from the point of view of providing reliable information in the financial statements for the benefit of the intending investors, members of the public, government agencies and financial institutions. This will enable individuals and organisations to form a fairly accurate judgement of the financial position by a study of the audited financial statements of companies.”

Spoken at the inauguration of first ever Commonwealth Conference of Accountants held in New Delhi from 6th to 8th February, 1975

Shri Morarji Desai

Minister for Finance
(Former Prime Minister of India)
1959

“...for safeguarding our own independence and liberty, we have got to provide some checks which automatically do not allow independence and liberty to be misused. Anybody who misuses power loses it: otherwise democracy is not maintained. You, who are accounting for everybody and also auditing the accounts, can do a great deal to improve standards. But to do that you have got to be vigilant all the time, and very humble.”

Spoken at 10th Annual Meeting of the Council held on 7th September, 1959

Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri

Minister for Commerce & Industry
(Former Prime Minister of India)
1958, 1960

“I cannot conceive what would happen if there were no accountants and no auditors. Not only the mute shareholders in a private company but the industries and the economy of the country as a whole would suffer without your help and adequate guidance. Members of your Institute have a virtual monopoly in financial accounting and auditing work. They must therefore unreservedly accept their responsibility for creating and maintaining an atmosphere of confidence in so far as it lies in their power to do so. This can be done only if you take a positive view of your duties and responsibilities”

Spoken at 9th and 11th Annual Meetings of the Council held at New Delhi in September, 1958 and September, 1960

Dr. S. Radhakrishnan

Vice-President of India
(Former President of India)
1958

“You (CAs) must do your work selflessly, in a spirit of dedication, in an uncompromising way, not caring for powers, but you must do your work for the sake of the community as a whole. In matters relating to the public enterprises which we undertake, our duty should be to see that monies spent are properly spent and that there is no wastage. That is a thing which you have to promote. You will help us in maintaining high standards of public behaviour by your frank and candid accounting and auditing. It is therefore essential that you maintain high standards. Whatever profession you might follow, you should not forget that everyone is an artist in his own line, whether it is in accounting or auditing, writing or doing the job of a sculptor or a painter.”

Spoken at a meeting of the Chartered Accountants of Madras Region held on 5th June, 1958

Dr. Rajendra Prasad

President of India
1954

“The fast increasing tempo of the industrial and economic development of the country makes it imperative that every Chartered Accountant should realise that he belongs to a profession which provides the first line of defence to the unwary public against money grabbers and opportunists. Your responsibility in this matter becomes all the greater because of the autonomy, which your profession enjoys. The confidence of the public in even reliable and well-managed business undertakings would be gravely undermined, if unscrupulous persons were allowed without let or hindrance, to manipulate company accounts or otherwise indulge in malpractices only to serve their own ignoble ends. The Government and the public are therefore alike interested in the maintenance of the independence and integrity of the Accountancy profession, but it is primarily for the profession itself to create conditions favorable to the growth of these qualities in its members.”

Spoken on the occasion of the Opening of the Building of the Institute and Inauguration of the First Conference of the Chartered Accountants of India, on Friday, 2nd April, 1954
